1826.

My Dear Sir,

I have been asked by a particular Friend if I could take the liberty of recommending the Bearer M^r Bruce to your favorable notice; as an advantage which he is extremely ambitious of, & would derive great profit from, as well as pleasure. He is a young man of excellent family in Wales & proposes passing some months at Berne previous to his residence & studies at Oxford.

I am sensible that your valuable time must be greatly intruded upon by a vast number of persons who have also this ambition. but I presume to think that your benevolence is willingly bestowed [2] on those who can deserve it; & that your kindness to me in particular would furnish me this liberty; especially when I ask it in favor of a young man. mindful as I am sure you are of the vast advantage it is to a youth, to make the acquaintance of those persons, whose merit & celebrity have already excited their admiration at a distance - for at such an age these are solid advantages, stored in virtuous recollection, & serving as guides when the character may have real need of such supports.

[3] I am particularly happy at the same time to recal to your memory one who has deeply felt & well remembered your former kindness, & the interest you took for him when it was espec[ially] useful & flattering to him. I should be delig[hted] to hear from M^r Bruce on his return that you are in the enjoyment of good health & success in the interesting studies you are engaged in so profitably for the world of literature. & of which you gave me so pleasing an account when you were last in England - I am sure you will also be glad to hear that I am in tolerable health, & happy in the study of my art. & I remain My Dear Sir ever with respect & gratitude

Your faithful humble servant.

C. R. Cockerell.
